Two Candidates Hold Joint Meeting in Dorchester

SEVIGNY DEFENDS POLITICAL ACTIONS

Starting Quietly, Meeting Ends In Blaze Of Denunciation

(By Morning Bulletin Leased Wire)
ST. PROSPER, Que., Jan. 18.—The first exchange from the hustings in the Dorchester byelection, which has been called to confirm the associment of Hon. Albert Sevrin, to the federal portfolio of inland revenue, took place here tonight. Starting out quietly, the meeting ended in a blaze of denunciation, with Hon. Mr. Sevrin offering to give $1,000 to charity if he could oppose a speech were published in Le Soleil and Le Canadien, the two principal Liberal organs in the French language published in the province, the former a Quebec, and the latter a Montreal daily.

Mr. Seigny spoke first. After he had finished his remarks, the two candidates, Hon. Mr. Seigny and his Liberal opponent, Lucien Cannon, speaking from the same platform, both declared that they were themselves against expected criticism on the question of the $5,000,000 emergency contribution in 1911 to provide units in the north. Mr. Seigny emphasized the ground upon which his opponents questioned the propriety of his attitude; and referred to the war and the peace time representation of Quebec, which latter he supported. Other counties, and particularly Quebec county, had, Mr. Seigny told his audience, elected high representatives, but he had preferred to remain faithful to his own county.

FRIDAY, JANUARY 19, 1917.

At Winnipeg the Czechs and Slovaks and Bohemians have been holding a celebration over the future of their respective countries forecasted in the Allied and neutral press. President Wilson's permitting might have gathered up quite a company on the occasion, if it were not for the fact that it is a pecuniary, and a disadvantage, that we have to treat as "alien enemies" a lot of a dozen or so races who come from enemy countries but who are passionately anxious to have the map of mid Europe remade on the lines laid down by the Allies, and who would no doubt be willing enough to help do it if they were given the chance.

Berlin has sent out an official statement assuring the Allies that they are mistaken if they imagine that Germany is on the verge of starvation, and declaring that the food supply is quite as ample as it has been during the past two years, in fact that in some respects the situation is improved. Unfortunately, there is a chance that in this case Berlin may be telling the truth. Anyway, the statement nullifies the previous impression Berlin has sent out about the hardships imposed upon German civilians by the food blockade. The word "sufficient" is a very telling word, especially when it comes from the soft-hearted pacifist among us, now has it upon the official word, which they are fighting for worth something, that if the blockade does not convince the civilian population of Germany with the paucity of rationing it is not afflicting them with the tortures of an aching cold within.

Sir Edmund Walker says that last year twenty million dollars were sent out of Canada to pay for automobiles, silks and velvets, and the chances are that Sir Edmund knows what he is talking about. That year of abounding prosperity and unbroken peace, when a time when the ways that for our lives in a war which every recognized authority says may take the last dollar that we can find it looks very unpleasantly like evidence that the Canadian people are uninitiated with suicidal extravagance. There are signs of it in this part of the country, for which we ought to be thankful, but if they figure represent what war order means to the people of eastern Canada then it is high time the Government not only started a campaign of voluntary "thrill" but took measures to gather up and put to the purpose of saving the state funds that is in the hands of the leaders of the entente speak the words of truth and soberness that it is squandered today in luxurious living is blood money, for it costs or will cost the lives of Canadian and Allied soldiers in the fighting we declared it to be our duty to do. Are we to also squander our means in the way of self-indulgence and then ask the taxpayers of the Allied nations to bear part of our share of the war cost?

A domestic camp is being taken of feeling, and with a view to finding out how many are fit for military service. According to Government reports ten battalions of them could be enlisted and sent overseas to fight for service and still leave as many on the pay roll as there were five years ago.

It is unfortunate that the circumstances are not more favorable to the application of a rural credit scheme to full advantage at the present. The loans which the farmers wish to secure by this means are to purchase stock and machinery, to erect necessary farm buildings and carry out other required improvements, and to bring more land under cultivation. All these branches of enterprise are most urgent in themselves, and if the increased production which they can be brought about while the war is on it would be well to invest in them. The strengthening not only Canada, but the Empire and the Allies for the prolonged struggle in which they are engaged. That is the present high cost of stock, machinery and materials of many kinds, and of labor, a hundred dollars spent in investment along these lines will hardly go farther than half the amount would have gone five years ago. That is the reason to secure the same amount of new equipment or to bring the same amount of wild land under crop as five years ago. The farmer has to borrow probably two hundred dollars for each hundred he would have had to borrow in five days of peace. If he is to pay the amount of interest and double the amount of principal. This means that if the money were borrowed at six or seven per cent, the farmer would have to pay from twelve to sixteen per cent on what the improvement would cost him in peace times, and at maturity would have to repay double the amount the enterprise would have cost him. So long as farm products continue to bring the high prices now prevailing, the farmer can meet these larger costs quite as easily as he could have met the smaller costs of similar improvements under peace conditions. But when the war ends there will be a sharp drop in prices, and the farmer who then has a loan will be in the unfavorable position of having to pay the interest and principal of a war-time investment out of the proceeds of grain and stock sold at peace prices. That fact must tend to dissuade farmers from borrowing as freely as they are now doing, and therefore to defeat the purpose of bringing about the large extension of agricultural operations and as large an increase of production at once as is desirable.

It does not seem to us that the Government's scheme will reach full usefulness until conditions have so far normalized themselves that the cost of extending his operations will be in proportion to the proceeds the farmer may expect from his grain and stock.

From the turmoil it started in Congress and the fact that the war is still going on, President Wilson's typewriter seems to be a sort of gun whose kick is worse than its hit.

Mr. Scargy, the new National Secretary of the N.Y. is to be opposed at the by-election. The result will show whether the Government's policy of providing jobs in munition factories for slackers is as popular among the Nationalist voters as it is supposed to be.

STEEL LAYING ON OLIVER-ST. PAUL LINE STARTED

Superintendent Graham, in charge of the Canadian Northern Railway, contractors, began work Thursday that the work of laying the steel on the Oliver-St. Paul extension had commenced. There are now 35 men at work at the Oliver end of the proposed line. It is expected that, beginning next week, construction will proceed rapidly, as more men will then be available.

What Happened at Town of Heacht

He had helped his widowed mother with the harvest for two weeks past, but late one afternoon he was waiting for his father to return for her. Now he had brought it, that the man was dead. He had been from Malines, were killing every man, woman and child in the path of their retreat, leaving nothing but death behind.

So he hastened west to Hecht, to his wife and family there. Traveling alone in the dark, the first four miles passed swiftly. Then the big harvest moon sailed up against the stars, and he thought that two hours travel by her light would bring him home, when he started to dismount, he found that village in flames, and his wife and children, whom he had so dearly loved, were dead.

He made a desperate dash, and he was almost at the village when he was seized by a band of soldiers. He was taken to a prison, and he was kept there for a long time. He was then released, and he was allowed to return to his home. He was then allowed to return to his home, and he was allowed to return to his home.

It is an agony of fear for those who live in the heart of the war zone. The soldiers are everywhere, and they are everywhere. They are everywhere, and they are everywhere. They are everywhere, and they are everywhere.

Such was the fate of Hecht, a village in the heart of the war zone. The soldiers are everywhere, and they are everywhere. They are everywhere, and they are everywhere. They are everywhere, and they are everywhere.

No Need For Aliens to be Alarmed

Uttawa, Jan. 18.—In view of the alarm created among some of the foreign-born population of Canada and the exclusion from some parts of Canada of a number of non-Canadian-born citizens to the United States, because of stories of impending conscription, the following official statement has been given out:

No measure of conscription has yet been under consideration by the Government, and in any event conscriptionary military service could only apply to British subjects resident in Canada. Moreover, men working on farms or in industries essential for carrying on the war, such as munition factories, steel plants and coal mines, are engaged in work of such importance for war purposes that even if the conscriptionary military service should be adopted there is little probability that they would be disturbed.

have taken all the facts into consideration, and such a man has generally been allowed to remain, as an important factor in price making.
